

Privacy Policies, Terms of services

This document of privacy terms of services applied to the formsubmit.io and governs some data collection and usage. By using the formsubmit.io services you consent to the data practices described in this document.

Use of cookies

formsubmit.io may use "cookies" to help you personalize some of your online experience. It's a small file placed in your machine by web server. Note that it can't be used to run any malicious program in your computer. They are used by web server to uniquely identify you. These cookies can be used for some common purposes including some security elements involved in the control of access to restricted areas.

You have the complete ability to accept or decline cookies. Most of the browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer.

Collection of your personal information formsubmit.io doesn't collect personally identifiable information. We may gather some of information at the time of registration and after registration as a part of account management in order to allow you to use the services. This information is required in order to provide quality of services.

Information collected or contained in the form created by users on their website

All the information that the user is collecting through form on his/her website will be subject to following privacy policies. Even though formsubmit.io sends out the information over email, the user is responsible and the rightful owner of said information.

formsubmit.io is committed to processing some of information with only purpose of managing the platform and to fulfill the request from the users. We will not use the collected information for any other purpose except when explicitly obtaining permission from user. We will not disclose any of the collected data to any third part, except in the case when this is required in order to provide desired services to user, or when it is required by law.

User registration & account management

In order to use some set of functionality, user will need to register as an account holder and accept the privacy and terms of services document. You are responsible for protecting the password and other credentials which are being used to access your account. User is responsible for all the activities happening in his/her account. In case if user becomes aware of unauthorized access, he/she will need to inform formssubmit.io immediately.

Changes to this document formssubmit.io will occasionally modify this document to reflect the company and user feedback. We will notify the user and the latest version will always be available to the user on our website.

Contact

You may contact us by emailing us on ping@formssubmit.io.

Effective Date: April 1st, 2016